GENERAL ANTHONY ACCEPT THE TERMS OF MARSHAL FOCH

Capt. Zampaglioni, Representing Italian Government, Tells Memphians There Is Nothing Else for Her to Do.

With all her allies on the non-combatant list and her armies everywhere giving way before the combined power of allied forces, Germany can do nothing but accept the terms handed her by Marshal Foch, the beller of Capt. Arturo Zampaglioni, Italian government publicity agent in America, who has fought the Germans in Italy and France and who thus knows something of the Teutonic viewpoint. Capt. Zampaglioni is in Memphis as the guest of the Americanization committee of the Chamber of Commerce, having arrived from New Orleans Saturday morning.

"America's part in the war has been invaluable," the captain continued. "I encountered many Americans when I was in France and you have every reason to be very proud of the splendid men in your armies over there."

Severely wounded in the right arm during the attack on Gorizia in August, 1915, Capt. Zampaglioni was placed on the invalid list. He had been in the Italian army 12 years and during the war his company stood firm in its position when companies to the right and left were forced to retire. When reinforcements came, the company helped to take a series of enemy trenches.

When asked of his part in this fight, the captain shrugged an expressive shoulder and declared, "It was nothing."

"The men simply obeyed and that was all," he said. "I had little part in it except to give commands."

Capt. Zampaglioni is a member of the first grenadier regiment of the Italian army—one of two similar organizations. Although more than six feet tall, he says he is one of the smallest men in the entire regiment, most of the officers and enlisted men nearing the seven-foot mark.

Capt. Zampaglioni will address a mass meeting at Italian hall at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. He has been sent to America to tell the Italian colonies of the part Italy has played in the world war. The meeting is called by John Gallelli, chairman of the Italian subcommittee of the Americanization committee.

He was the guest of the Americanization committee at a luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce Saturday.

3 PLUMBING INSPECTORS ON JOB IN ONE MONTH

Three plumbing inspectors in one month is a record caused by the resignation of one, the inability of another to serve when appointed and the appointment of the third set for Tuesday, when the city commission meets. M. H. Loring, incumbent, resigned Tuesday last, after a week's resignation to take effect on Nov. 15, and Pat Kelly was appointed last Tuesday on the resignation of Loring. Kelly asked to be excused because of having a better position. Last Tuesday Commissioner Quinn withdrew his nomination and on next Tuesday Dan McGrath, local plumber, will be named for the job, according to Mayor Montevideo.

"I'll give you a maximum of five, anyway," replied the judge, as the negroes headed out of the courtroom, with an officer trailing.

GREEKS BOUND OVER ON LIQUOR CHARGES

Tony Iappadoulas and Konstantinos, 205 Beale avenue, who were charged Friday by Federal Commissioner Poole for alleged violation of the Reed amendment, were taken to the Shelby county grand jury by Police Judge Fitzhugh Saturday on a charge of violating the liquor law in connection with the federal case.

Patrolmen testified they arrested the two Greeks as they stepped from a Caruthersville Mo. train at the Memphis depot with two suitcases of liquor. The men made no effort to conceal their baggage, the patrolmen said, but asserted it was for their personal use, on account of their good reputation, the usual city fine of $50 was omitted by Judge Fitzhugh.

EMPLOYEES WILL HELP ELIMINATE WAR LOAFERS

Although the police are rounding up loafers and the zone captains and lieutenants are keeping a sharp lookout for such in their precincts, the Memphis war work committee is seeking further co-operation in its task of keeping all able-bodied Memphis men at work. The committee has asked all employers to report those absent from work without good cause and has requested all persons who know of "war loafers" to notify the committee.

PIGEON BREEDERS WILL FORM ORGANIZATION

Detectives Carter and Hagan, who arrested the youths, allege they took Mrs. Harper's car on Nov. 5 from Front street at Monroe avenue and rode it for nearly 24 hours before returning it to Memphis and abandoning it. They are charged with using an auto without the owner's consent.

GETS INSIDE VERDICT ON LOAFING CHARGE

Manuel Davis, negro, 316 Vance avenue, a former employee of the police station as porter, got his first official glimpse at the machinery of police court Saturday. He was haled up for trial on a war looting charge.

"You must like this place," said Judge Fitzhugh. "Now, you can stay in here for a few days and ain't got no car."

"We piled him up on Beale street," your honor, informed the officers, "while he was loafing around. He refused to come back to his old job."
